DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

#1 of the two adjacent stone warehouses is a 3-1/2 story structure located on E. All Saints Street. It is detached on the left (W) side, three bays wide and four bays in depth and is constructed of large and small sized fieldstones, probably from an adjoining outcropping formerly called "Cannon Hill." There is also a one bay wide left side section and newer block addition, extending from the building. Walls are two feet thick. The front center bay has wide shipping entrances on all three stories becoming smaller as they rise and upper floors were probably originally served by pulleys. The very wide first floor entrance is round arched and entered by board and batten double doors of a two section Dutch type with a small paned transom overhead. Those above have regular board and batten doors with a segmental arch on the second story and a flat arch on the third story. A more narrow, segmental arched doorway occupies the left side bay. On either side of the center entrances are 6/6 sash windows also becoming smaller as they rise. Those on the first floor are protected by board and batten shutters. The rear facade faces a railroad spur and like the front, has wide round or segmental arched shipping entrances, but on the first two floors only. There are several sizes of flat arched windows now blocked in. All fenestrations are headed by brick jack arches. The rear entrances are framed by large stone quoins and probably were added later. The building is covered by a massive, moderate slope "A" frame roof now protected by asphalt shingles. The gable end faces the street with a wide, 3' overhang with more narrow overhangs on the sides and rear. These are all decorated by curved  barge boards.
